Matchless Beauty . . . . that Endures

To give lasting charm, beauty and distinction to your home, you could choose no more appropriate decorative medium than real tiles of clay.

No other material combines rich beauty and durability in the inimitable way that real tiles do.

Matchless beauty that endures is found in the very nature of genuine Mosaic Tiles, because they are designed by highly skilled artists, made from finest selected clays, then baked to permanent hardness by intense heat.

Tile Used Through the Ages

When you select Mosaic Tiles for your home, you are following in the footsteps of the great architects of all time. Tiles from the pyramids and palaces of old Egypt's haughty Pharaohs remain to us today. The ancient Romans throughout their far-flung empire were fond of tile floors.

The famous Mohammedan Mosques of the Near East, and the Alcazar and Alhambra of Spain owe their splendor in a striking degree to the wonderful tiles with which they are decorated. In Europe for centuries tile has been used in cathedrals, palaces, castles and dwellings.

Tile is the Vogue

Today in this country tile is more popular than ever. Go into any section and you will find the enduring beauty of Mosaic Tiles in outstanding homes, buildings and institutions. The vogue for tile is constantly growing, because of its ideal qualities, gleaming colors and genuine economy.

Mosaic Faience Tiles in Entrance Halls

No place in the home responds better to the use of Mosaic Tiles than the entrance hall. Their effective beauty creates a first impression of good taste and distinction, which you want your home to reflect.

As in the hall illustrated on this page, a floor of Mosaic Faience Tiles forms a delightful background for the decorative scheme. It may serve also to strike the keynote of the colors used in the other rooms.

Mosaic Faience Tiles come first in consideration for entrance hall floors. Heavily glazed in a wealth of colors, they are the aristocrats of the tile world, with superb hand-made characteristics. The slight irregularity of their shapes and sizes simply accentuates the craftsmanlike effect which they provide wherever used.

In this illustration is shown how a distinctive floor for the entrance hall may be produced with Mosaic Faience Tiles. This is a random design of Mosaic Faience in sizes 6 x 6, 6 x 3 and 3 x 3, in a mixture of green shades. The border and base are of 6 x 6 decorated Mosaic Faience pattern No. 3002, decoration No. 2535. The wall fountain is Mosaic design No. 308.

Where the First Impression is One of Charm

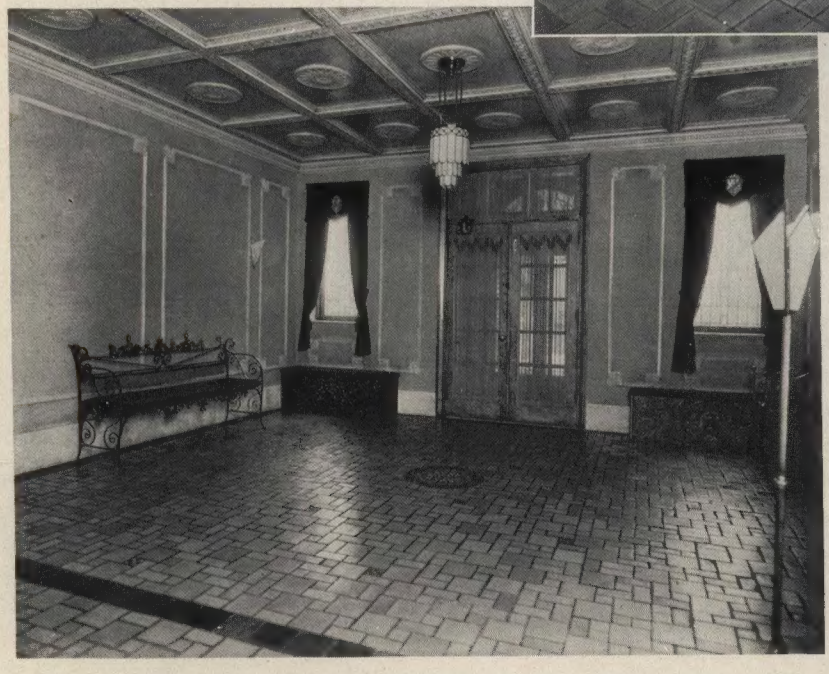
For the floors in the entrance hall Mosaic Tiles prove year in and year out their superiority to other types of covering.

Mosaic Ironstone and Bluestone Floor Tiles are preeminently suitable for entrance halls. In soft, unglazed browns, tans, reds, blues and grays, they are extremely hard and durable. They are wear-proof, scar-proof, stain-proof, moisture-proof. The scuffling of many feet cannot mar them and time cannot fade their original beauty. They are easily kept clean and never need to be replaced.

Random patterns of various sizes and blending shades, as indicated by the illustrations, are much in favor in Faience and also in Ironstone and Bluestone. Small sizes in these tiles, (2 x 2, 2 x 1 and 1 x 1 inches), called "mosaics," produce delightful new treatments.

Mosaic Flint Tiles, an unglazed vitreous, long-wearing type in several colors, are also most serviceable and pleasing.

Mosaic Ceramics, small unglazed tiles in a wealth of patterns, colors and shapes provide highly suitable and interesting floors for many types of spaces.



In the upper illustration is reproduced a floor of Mosaic Faience Tiles in a design combining two sizes, relieved here and there by effective decorative inserts.
Another random pattern of Mosaic Faience is shown in the lower photograph. Inserts are introduced at intervals and there is a circle of decorative tiles in the center of the floor.

Browns, tans and reds make up the charm of the Mosaic Faience Tile floor in this delightful living-room. The durability of the tiles also recommends them for the stairway. Decorative tiles in the walls, in the fireplace and to conceal the radiator, add further touches of beauty.

Expressing Individuality in Your Home

Through the use of Mosaic Tiles you are in a better position than with other materials to give character and individuality to your home. You are not limited to a few stock designs originated by others and duplicated in hundreds of homes. Rather, with the almost infinite variety of colors, types, sizes and shapes in which Mosaic Tiles come, you are able to give your own tastes free reign and have original effects created according to your own designs or those of your architect.

This is an outstanding reason for the use of Mosaic Faience Tiles in the living-room, to produce floors and wainscots of never-ending charm.

Your Own Color Scheme

From the broad selection of rich colors afforded by this finest type of tiles, you may choose the soft, subdued, warm tones to make the living-room, or other rooms, restful, cheerful and interesting. Or you may prefer the gay, bright tones.

Indeed, the possibilities of Mosaic Faience for decorative beauty are unlimited, not only for this room, but for dining-room, library or billiard-room.

In the floor of the living-room illustrated on this page, there is a pleasing blend of brown, tan and red shades, harmonizing delightfully with the lighter tone of the walls and supplying an impressive setting for the furnishings. The same color scheme, enhanced by dark green in the risers, is carried out in the stairway, for which Mosaic Tiles are most appropriate, because of their fadeless beauty and imperviousness to wear.

The choice and use of colors play a prominent part in the individuality of any room. In the decorative plan it is wise to make one color the prevailing one, to tie the various elements of the room together into a coherent whole. The Mosaic Tile floor shown above provides the tone-blend that balances the entire scheme of the room.

Tile Creates Alluring Distinction

Other types of Mosaic Tiles in addition to the beautiful, colorful Faience, may be used in the living-room or other rooms to create alluring distinction.

Ironstone and Bluestone Tiles with their soft, unglazed effects, give tasteful floor treatments that remain a joy year after year. Their range of sizes, up to 12 x 12 inches, and the several subdued shades in which they come, offer considerable freedom in carrying out your ideas.

Faience Mosaics and the Ironstone and Bluestone Mosaics (these are the small 2 x 2, 2 x 1 and 1 x 1 sizes) afford practically unlimited opportunities for decorative design.

These latter tiles may also be used for attractive dadoes, wainscots or walls. The larger sizes of Faience, too, are superb for this purpose. They may be in plain tones or decorated. Mosaic Hispania Tiles with Spanish designs give highly interesting wall treatments. Mosaic Satin Finish Wall Tiles, in a choice of twenty-four soft, glare-free, pastel tints, are found most attractive for some types of living-rooms.

To heighten the charm in floors and walls there are decorative tiles, with colorful geometric, floral and heraldic designs. These may be inserted here and there among the plain-colored tiles, or used as effective borders. Another way to apply them is in panels on the walls, to give the beautiful richness of tapestry.

The illustration below suggests another alluring treatment of Mosaic Faience Tiles. These tiles, with their depth and variety of colors, lustrous beauty and handcraft qualities, create a distinction that never grows dim. The pattern here is a random use of several sizes and harmonious colors, with decorative inserts. The base, stairway, stands and grille sill are also of Mosaic Faience.

Mosaic Faience Tiles furnish fascinating decorative effects in many forms. The floor above is in various shades of reds and browns. The wainscot is in ochre with a mottled red base. The decorated border, mouldings and columns are also of Mosaic Faience.

The wealth of superb colors in which Mosaic Tiles are to be had in almost infinite variety, has given them the wonderful appeal which they have for home-owners and architects.

Another factor in the vogue for Mosaic Tiles is that they are hand-set, installed by skilled craftsmen, and thus form walls and floors of true hand-made artistry.

With the galaxy of Mosaic colors, this offers unlimited freedom for securing fascinating tile treatments. In bright and soft glazes there are many shades of blue—light and dark, royal, cerulean, peacock—old, bright, robin's egg, medium and mottled blue.

The greens come in a choice array: yellow, brownish and blue green; apple, French and olive green; dark, light, dull and mottled green; cool green; metallic, celadon and water green. There are charming reds of several tones, browns and grays in profusion, with cheerful yellows, tans, buffs and creams. Distinctive, too, are the purples, pinks, lilac, ivory, black, gold and silver, and the various granite effects.

This dazzling range of shades and tones affords greater possibilities than anything else for delightful, enduring combinations and blendings of color in the decorative scheme. It is a wondrous palette with which to "paint" dreams of home beauty.

A Mosaic Tile Mantel Becomes the Center of the Decorative Plan

Modern architecture is assigning to the hearth and mantel a more important place than ever before.

Produced by fire as Mosaic Tiles are, with their enchanting colors and variety of sizes and decorations, architects and lovers of home have chosen them as ideal material for constructing beautiful mantels and fireplaces.

What fascination there is in a Mosaic Tile mantel and fireplace like that pictured above! What charm it brings to the living-room!

The mantel is design No. 404, the "Hacienda," one of more than a score of artistic Mosaic creations. Its predominant color is chestnut brown, No. 316, with rope-twist beading in yellow No. 388. The small 2 x 2 tiles in the face are in various reds and tans. The hearth is lined with mottled red and blue tiles. All the tiles, both the square and decorative shapes, are Mosaic Faience.

In the spirit of old manor houses the floor is also of Mosaic Faience, in blending reds and browns, with occasional inserts.

Ornamental, Colorful . . . but more than that . . . the Focal Point of Family Life

Mantels and fireplaces of Mosaic Faience Tiles may be constructed in any shape, size or design, and in any blending of colors, so that they harmonize perfectly with the plan of the house.

A Mosaic mantel such as illustrated here becomes the unifying center of the decorative scheme in living-room, hall or library.

The design shown above is No. 440, a unique ornamental interpretation in the Italian spirit. The dimensions of the mantel are six feet wide, with height variable to the ceiling. The fire opening is two feet, seven and a half inches wide and three feet high.

Several rich colors of Mosaic Faience Tiles have been used, chiefly mottled brown No. 316, and mottled red No. 2010. The leaf and heraldic decorations in green, blue and red are an example of the infinite possibilities afforded by these tiles.

The floor is also of Mosaic Faience Tiles in colors that carry out the tones of the mantel.

Mosaic Tiles Ideal for Hearth

The very nature of Mosaic Faience Tiles makes them peculiarly adapted to fireplace construction. Faience is formed of the finest clay and then is baked to extreme hardness by intense heat at a much higher temperature than is ever reached in the hearth. They resist, therefore, without the slightest impairment, the effects of open flames.

Nothing else is able to dim their original beauty, neither climate nor wear nor soot nor grime. Throughout the years they are easily kept bright and gleaming as new. This is also true of Mosaic Ironstone and Bluestone Tiles, which make charming mantels.

Designs for Every Home

Whatever your type of home there is a Mosaic Tile mantel that will distinctly "belong" there as the center of your decorative plan. A profusion of mantel designs have been originated by Mosaic Tile artists. Those illustrated here are typical examples, but there are a great many more, from which you or your architect may choose the mantel most appropriate to your requirements. You may wish a Spanish type, a Georgian mantel or a Tudor design. Or perhaps a modernistic treatment will lend itself best to your plans. They are all there, ready for your selection.

Or if you desire a mantel constructed according to your own design it will be carefully and artistically executed in unmatched Faience by Mosaic craftsmen. And whether you choose one of our designs or originate one of your own you may always have it in any color scheme you wish.

The mantel illustrated above is the "Baronial," Mosaic design No. 409. Buff is an attractive color for the Faience tiles in this design, but equally appropriate are brown, fawn, ash and other grays and various red tones. The Faience tiles in shelf and floor are of matching shades.

At the left, is a special treatment of a mantel, combining a Faience arch and trim with plaster.

A fountain of Mosaic Faience Tiles brings enchantment to the sun-room or conservatory. Gay blues, greens, reds and yellows make the fountain corner bright and cheerful.

For Sun-Rooms Gay or Restful . . . . Real Tile is the Ideal Material . . . . . .

The ineffaceable beauty and bright, glowing colors of Mosaic Tiles make them unusually appropriate for creating delightful, gay sun-rooms.

The Joy of a Tile Fountain

A fountain fashioned of Mosaic Tiles, with gurgling water playing over its glazed surface, furnishes an enchanting addition to the sun-room. Or it may be placed in the conservatory or in the garden, where it will give joy through the years, due to the imperishable qualities of Mosaic Faience Tiles.

These tiles are preferred for fountains, because they have the greatest beauty and are absolutely non-absorbent. As in the illustration shown above, both the large Faience tiles and the small "Faience Mosaics" may be combined, in a blending of lively shades.

The floor and wainscot continue the color scheme with Mosaic Faience Tiles.

There is a wide variety of gay colors for the sun-room in the almost endless choice of Mosaic hues. Bright blue, green, yellow, purple, lavender, red, orange and other shades, provide unlimited combinations.

The floor to last indefinitely, should be wholly finished with Mosaic Tiles. As in the rooms illustrated on this page, Mosaic Faience serves ideally for the floors. The large sizes give a sense of spaciousness, while the small Faience Mosaics offer new and charming designs.

More subdued, but attractive and durable, are Mosaic Ironstone and Bluestone Tiles, in soft, unglazed shades. These may be used in either the large or the "mosaic" sizes.

Designing the wainscots or walls in the same tiles and colors used in the floor, or in harmonizing colors, is always decidedly effective. Decorative tiles with interesting motifs in several tints, applied as borders, panels, and inserts in the floor and walls, heighten the playful mood of the room.

And Mosaic Tiles give you the certainty of a material that blends ideally with flowers and furnishings, never fades or wears out, never is affected by weather or moisture.

Tiled Baths that the Romans Would Envy

In the large picture above, the rich green floor of Mosaic Faience Tiles and the sea-spray green, No. 0443, of the Mosaic Satin Finish Tiles in the walls, make color reign supreme. Blue, lavender, or cream may be used similarly. The features of this room are the sunken tub and the dressing table and lavatory, which are built of Mosaic Faience Tiles. Note also the decorated tile panels on each side of the lavatory.

Another charming treatment is suggested in the smaller picture. Rose orchid, No. 0754, for the walls; water green, No. 464, brown, No. 316 and fawn, No. 261, for the floor. Tiles enclose the tub and the decorative tile border enhances the effect.

In creating such effects there is no substitute for genuine tile.

To give enduring charm to the bathroom, choice may be made among several types of Mosaic Tiles.

Mosaic Satin Finish Wall Tiles, as their name implies, have a soft, glare-free, satin-like finish. In twenty-four delicate colors, they are essentially tiles for interior walls, and should not be used for floors or on exteriors.

Mosaic Vitromat Floor Tiles are glazed tiles with a vitreous (or semi-vitreous) body and thus are wear-proof and water-proof. In the same colors and glazes as the Satin Finish Wall Tiles, they are ideal to use with the latter.

Faience Mosaics (the small thin Faience units) give floors of lasting delight in combination with walls of Satin Finish or Faience Tiles. Or both walls and floors may be of Faience Mosaics.

The larger sizes of Mosaic Faience Tiles, the aristocrats of all tiles, allow luxurious effects to be created, with their inimitable colors, in both floors and walls.

Widely used for bathroom floors and providing inexpensive installations are Mosaic Ceramics. These are small, unglazed tiles in square, oblong, hexagonal, rhomboid, triangular and diamond shapes. They come in a wide variety of designs and colors.

A group of attractive patterns in these tiles are known as Aventine Ceramics. Colorful designs that go particularly well with Satin Finish walls are Velvetex Ceramics. There are also those with a stippled or granite non-slip texture, named Granitex Ceramics.

Mozane Enamels, in ten bright glazed colors, are wall tiles which afford attractive treatments where cost is an item.

Mosaic All-Tile Accessories, consisting of soap dishes, tumbler holders, towel bars, paper holders, electric heaters, etc., are made of tile in colors to match the Satin Finish, Enamel and Faience colors.

In the delightful bathroom below, the walls are No. 0463-F straw-colored Mosaic Satin Finish Wall Tiles, with Mosaic Faience base and floor in an ox-blood tone, No. 348. Observe how the decorative strip, pattern No. 4060, in its blending colors heightens the charm of the entire treatment.

Under the magic touch of Mosaic Tiles the kitchen becomes one of the most delightful rooms in the home. Nothing is so serviceable and satisfactory as tile for the kitchen.

Time Cannot Dim, nor Daily Use Fade the Wonderful Brightness of the Tiled Kitchen

Real tiles are paramount in the kitchen as elsewhere in the home.

In the kitchen and throughout the house, Mosaic Tiles solve the every-day problem of housekeeping. They cannot be disfigured by stains, dust or dirt. They are as easily cleaned as your chinaware.

Mosaic Tile floors never develop unsightly worn places, nor can heavy furniture or utensils mar them.

Outlast the House

Mosaic Tiles eliminate replacements, repainting and refinishing. Time or wear cannot change their appearance. They give you greatest economy for your money, because they outlast the house itself.

A color plan that makes it a joy to work in the kitchen is suggested above. Buff No. 0277 Mosaic Satin Finish Tiles for the walls, old ivory No. 0410 Vitromat for the tile sink, blue No. 0454 for the base and cream and green Mosaic Ceramics for the floor.

These types of tile are highly adaptable for the kitchen, being very serviceable and moderate in cost. A wide range of cheerful color combinations is possible.

Mosaic Vitromat Floor Tiles in matching colors may also be used with wonderful satisfaction when the walls are of Satin Finish Tiles.

Remember the breakfast nook in tiling your home. The sunshiny colors of Mosaic Tiles make it the coziest spot you can imagine. Bright yellows and blues are ideal tints, or some dainty shade like peach bloom may meet your fancy.

Mosaic Faience Tiles, especially in the walls or wainscots, achieve extraordinarily beautiful kitchens. The attractive Mosaic Flint Floor Tiles are practical and long-wearing.

The bright Mozane Enamel colors and Satin Finish Tiles furnish inexpensive walls and go well with Mosaic Ceramic floors. Granitex Ceramics are popular for kitchen floors, due to their non-slip, granite-like surface.

(For references to various tiles, see page 13).

Include a Tile Sink

A wonderful convenience is to have a sink of Mosaic Tiles in your kitchen. As in the illustrations on this page, such a sink is built in, to the size and height you wish and with as much cupboard space as you require.

Mosaic Tiles are ideal for sinks, because they are wear-proof, moisture-proof, stain-proof and scar-proof. A sink of Mosaic Tiles gives you endless satisfaction.

Such tiles as Mosaic Ceramics, Faience Mosaics and Flint Tiles are used for the working surfaces of the sink. You may have any colors you desire, to harmonize or contrast with the scheme of the kitchen as a whole.

In the kitchen above, the wall is of Mosaic Satin Finish Tiles in No. 0463-F straw color, with decorative strips of Faience Mosaics. The dado, door trim and base are sky blue No. 0451 Satin Finish Tiles. Mosaic Ceramics are used for the floor, in light blue and buff. The sink is designed with primrose No. 478 Faience Mosaics, bordered by dark buff No. 277 and royal blue.

Many Outdoor Uses for Mosaic Tiles

The beauty, luxury and convenience of the grounds and gardens around the home are immeasurably enhanced by means of Mosaic Tiles. Time-defying, weather-proof and possessed of a multitude of rich colors they are most practical and delightful for such purposes.

You may have an outdoor swimming pool, for which Mosaic Ceramics in white and colors are generally used, with runways of non-slip Granitex Tiles.

Or build a fountain of Mosaic Faience in the garden, and a circular Faience pool for water lilies, with a restful Mosaic Tile seat near by. And design your terraces, walks and porches of Mosaic Faience, Ironstone, Bluestone or Flint Tiles. Enticing patio gardens may be created with Mosaic Tiles.

INSTALLING MOSAIC TILES

Mosaic Tiles are truly an economical material, since their first cost is the last. Produced of practically everlasting substances they endure longer than the construction of the house.

And it is surprising at what a moderate expenditure you can give your home character, charm and distinction through the use of Mosaic Tiles, achieving permanent beauty and doing away with the costs of redecorating and repairing.
